STATE AWARDS OVER $2.5 MILLION TO FAMILY PRACTICE RESIDENCY TRAINING PROGRAMS

Sacramento – The Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development (OSHPD) recently awarded over $2.5 million to twenty-six family practice residency training programs. The funds are made available through OSHPD’s Song-Brown program.

“Song-Brown Family Practice Residency program funding increases family medicine residents’ opportunities to practice at medically underserved facilities,” said OSHPD Director, Dr. David Carlisle. “This exposure to residency programs in underserved communities increases the likelihood that as medical doctors, they will choose to practice in these communities.”

The following family practice residency training programs received awards:

- Contra Costa County Health Services $ 51,615
- Loma Linda University $ 51,615
- Mercy Medical Center, Merced $ 51,615
- Mercy Medical Center, Redding $ 51,615

The Song-Brown program was established by the Song-Brown Act to increase the number of family practice physicians and physician assistants being trained in the State to provide needed medical services to the people of California. OSHPD works in conjunction with the California Healthcare Workforce Policy Commission to award Song-Brown program funding. Family nurse practitioners were added to the Song-Brown program in 1978, and in 2005, Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger expanded the program to include registered nurses.

Since Governor Schwarzenegger took office in 2003, the Song Brown Program has awarded over $10 million in capitation awards to family practice residency training programs.
